In partnership with The Inter-Institute Task Force on Diversity, Equity and Inclusion, the Candidates of Color Supervision Group is specifically offered to candidates of color who are in psychoanalytic training. As group leaders and analysts of color, we believe that it is important for candidates of color in psychoanalytic training to have a safe space amongst other colleagues to deepen the work around racism both inside and outside of the treatment room.

Professional Objectives:
- Explore intrapsychic and interpersonal racist ideology that each of us has internalized.
- Examine racialized transference/countertransference enactments in clinical cases, as well as individual supervision and classroom settings in analytic training.
- Provide supervision on racial or cultural issues facing candidates inside and outside the treatment room.
- Identify and introduce relevant readings in psychoanalytic literature on race, culture and/or ethnicity.
- Provide suggestions in navigating analytic training as a candidate of color to further professional development in the field of psychoanalysis.
- Expand post-training collegial network and community
